

NEW BOARD MEMBER ONE OF FOREMOST NURSES IN THE STATE

Members of the State Nurses' association, of which Miss Grace Franklin is president, yesterday wired congratulations to the headquarters of the state board of nurse examiners on being advised of the appointment of Miss Franklin to the board by Governor Campbell.

Miss Franklin in all probability will not attend a board meeting until January, when the next session is scheduled, but she will be in Phoenix at least a month in advance of that time to attend a special meeting of the executive board of the State Nurses' association.

She is recognized as one of the foremost nurses in the state. She has had wide experience in addition to giving up years to study. She took a post graduate course at the New York City School of Nursing and has had important connections in that city.

She came into national note for having inaugurated and supervised the first Delinquent child welfare campaign and directing the follow up work from the children's wards and hospitals at Bellevue and Roosevelt hospitals in New York. Miss Franklin served as superintendent of the New York Medical College and Hospital for Women and as supervisor of the Harlem hospital, previous to which she specialized in surgical technique work in New York. A course in health lectures at Columbia University was included in her training and preparation in social service fitted her for work in the Bellevue school of social service.

She also had the advantage of a close association with leading physicians and surgeons and for some time was private secretary to Dr. John Duncan Quackenbush, an authority on hypnotic therapeutics.

Miss Franklin has been connected with western institutions at various times, having been superintendent of the Children's Hospital in Los Angeles, and at the head of various children's hospital schools of nursing.

In El Paso she was identified with the Anti-Tuberculosis association as its superintendent and directed the city and county charities there.

Although she has been in Glila county less than a year and a half, she is its acknowledged leader in welfare work. She is director of the Glila county department of public welfare and is prominent in Red Cross activities in Globe and Miami where she is interested in public health service work, and is active in the Associated Charities of which she is secretary.

PRISONER ESCAPES FROM CHAIN GANG

Although only eight days remained of his six months' sentence, Harry Maultby, a county prisoner, yesterday decided he had served a sufficient length of time and quietly slipped into a convenient cotton field near the road on which the chain gang was working and made his escape.

At a late hour last night officers had not found him, although a search was begun at once.

Maultby was sentenced by Judge Stanford on June 13, 1921, to serve six months in the county jail after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny. Maultby was first charged with grand larceny, but the charge was reduced on motion of the county attorney's office. The charge arose from the taking of a Ford car and some tools and guns from a Chandler resident. On June 21, Maultby, Jeff D. Dickey and G. F. Bolt were transferred to the Yavapai county jail. The three were sentenced to this jail Oct. 25, and Maultby was taken out with other sentenced prisoners in the chain gang to work on the road, and watching his chance he slipped into the brush and "beat it."

GIVES OPINION ON TRAINING CREDITS

When a high school student has two credits for military training and is still in school he must continue to take the training, according to an opinion rendered by W. J. Galbraith, attorney general. Although the military work goes on after he has received his two credits, he can not receive additional credits in the total credit reached by the state's legal advisor.

According to the law cited by Mr. Galbraith, "to each cadet who satisfactorily performs the assigned work in military training, shall be allowed credit equivalent to one-half of one academic unit per year, but the total credit allowed shall not exceed two such units."

"In other words," states Mr. Galbraith, "to each cadet who takes military training regardless of whether they have their two units credit or not, but in no event shall they receive more than the two units credit even though they continue to perform military work."

K. OF C. PICNIC AT MISSION SUNDAY

The Knights of Columbus (Marcos De Niza council) will hold their annual picnic at the St. John's mission Sunday. Every member of the order, with his family, is expected to attend and to bring the family picnic basket. Hot coffee will be served.

The committee in charge promise a real old fashioned picnic. There will be a band concert by the St. John's mission band under the direction of Professor Ribera; drill competition by the pupils of the school; boys and girls races; climbing the greatest pole and other interesting events, including a baseball game between the Indians of the school and the Casey team, but he will have to play some ball, as the Indians are out to win.

Judges will be Tom Whitney, P. W. Temples and W. P. Volta; starter, Jack Halloran; announcer, Judge Frank De Souza; clerk of the field events, Bert Dodd. Col. E. Power Conway will umpire the baseball game. If you have a spare seat in your automobile look up some member and take him along with you. A bus will leave the corner of Adams street and Central avenue not later than 11 o'clock. For bus reservation phone 1451 or 8235.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM AJO DISTRICT

AJO, Nov. 4.—Col. John C. Greenway, general manager of the New Cornelia Copper company, came over from Warren and spent several days in Ajo this week. On Tuesday night he was present and delivered a fine address before the chamber of commerce, discussing market conditions, freight rates and taxation questions, and bringing words of encouragement to the chamber of commerce and city.

Robert Webb of El Paso is in Ajo on a visit with relatives and friends. A. T. Esate of Phoenix, cashier of the Valley Bank, was a visitor here on Wednesday.

Mrs. H. S. Montgomery, Sr., the mother of H. S. Montgomery, former tank house foreman for the New Cornelia company, died at her home in Los Angeles Monday. She was well known here, where she formerly resided.

Charles Leach, motorman on the road between T. C. & B. R. B. was married to Miss Effie Kitt of Cleveland, Ohio, at Tucson last Sunday. They came to Ajo Friday and will make this place their future home.

John W. Mayer, attorney, went to Tucson Wednesday evening on legal business.

Alex Van Court of El Paso is visiting friends in Ajo this week.

Edmond Bennett of Los Angeles has been in Ajo several days this week. Wednesday afternoon he left in his Essex car for the coast to make a speed test in covering the distance.

Mrs. Calie Arnold has returned from an extended visit with friends at Pasadena.

An enjoyable "Yellow" party was held in the "Chocolate Shop" on Friday evening by 15 couples of young people. G. B. Phillips, L. W. Seaman and Mr. Kilpatrick furnished the music.

Mrs. C. A. Brown is a patient at the New Cornelia hospital.

B. F. Cody left Ajo Saturday to join his family at St. Joseph, Mo., and expects to engage in business somewhere in that state.

Harry Steele is quite ill at his home here suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism.

G. B. Eckols and family at Detroit, Mich., have moved here, where Mr. Eckols has taken employment with the New Cornelia company.

Charles Locke, after several weeks confinement in hospital and at his home resulting from a broken ankle, is able to be at his place of business at the Palace Commercial store. It is still necessary, however, for him to use crutches.

The church services at the Protestant community church were largely attended last Sunday night. Dr. E. J. Laue preached a very interesting sermon.

The ladies' aid society of the Protestant church held a very successful and entertaining Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward McDaniels. Mrs. Harry Krentzer, Sr., being assistant hostess. Delicious refreshments were a feature of the afternoon.

W. R. Dennison, A. E. Hoge and E. D. Nichols formed a hunting and fishing party which left here Saturday last to spend the next three weeks enjoying great sport in Mexico and extending their trip to the Gulf of Mexico.

County Supervisors Dr. Baker and Ernest Woods, Clerk Harry Bartlett and County Engineer W. C. LeFevre, of Tucson, came to Ajo last Saturday evening and the next day went on an inspection tour of the highway from Ajo to the Pima county line. They returned here in the afternoon held a meeting with a number of local citizens at the Oasis theater and a frank discussion of the proposition to bond the county for a quarter of a million dollars for the purpose of building a highway over the proposed route was held. The consensus of opinion of the citizens of Ajo is very much opposed to this project at this time.

Business conditions are such as to make this a heavy burden, and it is not believed this amount will be sufficient for a first class highway. It is not definitely clear that this bond will be the one of the greatest advantage to this place, and other reasons warrant our leading citizens to not favor the road at this time. It was further brought out at this meeting that Ajo district pays about 41 per cent of the taxes of Pima county and very little money has ever been spent in the regular way in improving the roads and streets of this place or community. At a meeting of the chamber of commerce Tuesday night a resolution was adopted unanimously opposing the bond issue for this proposed highway improvement.

The chamber of commerce of Ajo met in the Oasis theater Tuesday night for the purpose of completing its organization and the transaction of business. Upwards of 100 men were present. W. L. Du Moulin, the new president, presided. E. L. Franks, secretary. The new constitution and by-laws were read and formally adopted. J. A. Potter, M. E. Gibson and J. T. Holcomb were elected as directors and the president appointed the following additional members:

Round Steak, lb. 20c
Beef Pot Roast, lb. 15c
Veal Shoulder Roast, lb. 15c

Hog Feeding Tests At University Show Fattening Value Of Alfalfa

The animal husbandry department of the University of Arizona began a hog feeding test September 11 to study the value of alfalfa as a supplement to concentrates for fattening pigs. The test was conducted on 100 pigs of various breeds and ages, averaging 70 pounds each. The pigs were divided into five lots of 20 pigs each. The lots were given different amounts of alfalfa and concentrates. Lot 1 was given no alfalfa and no concentrates; Lot 2 received concentrates; Lot 3 received alfalfa; Lot 4 received alfalfa and concentrates; Lot 5 received alfalfa and concentrates and a self-feeder.

Many stockmen believe that it is a waste of feed to give pigs alfalfa. They will eat. Animals require sufficient food to maintain them before profit is available to the owner. In this test gains have been made at least cost with the pigs given full rations on alfalfa pasture, and next cheapest with the lot receiving alfalfa hay and concentrates from a self-feeder. The modern way to fatten pigs is to give them the cheapest home-grown grain available by means of a self-feeder, and supplement this with some food rich in protein, such as skim milk, buttermilk, linseed meal, or tankage. Wherever possible, alfalfa pasture should be available or else the pigs given alfalfa hay. It is also a good plan to bury pigs along for market by giving them all the feed they will consume from a self-feeder.

A careful record is being kept of the feed eaten by each of the lots, and the weight of the animals each week. This is a very accurately conducted experiment. The pigs may be inspected any time at the University farm, four miles north of Tucson. When the test is completed, the data will be tabulated and reported in a publication from the Agricultural Experiment Station.

According to the above table the lot receiving concentrates and alfalfa pasture made the best gain; and the second largest gains were made from the lot receiving concentrates and alfalfa hay. These two lots led the others at the start, and continued to make more rapid gains each week. Lot 2, receiving concentrates but no other supplement, gained much less rapidly than the lots in which the concentrates were fed with the addition of alfalfa pasture or hay. The test proves conclusively that pigs make more rapid gains when allowed alfalfa pasture or hay than when no hay is available.

The pigs receiving nothing except alfalfa pasture gained only half as fast as those that received concentrates as fast as those allowed alfalfa pasture.
